

New Manager Assimilation

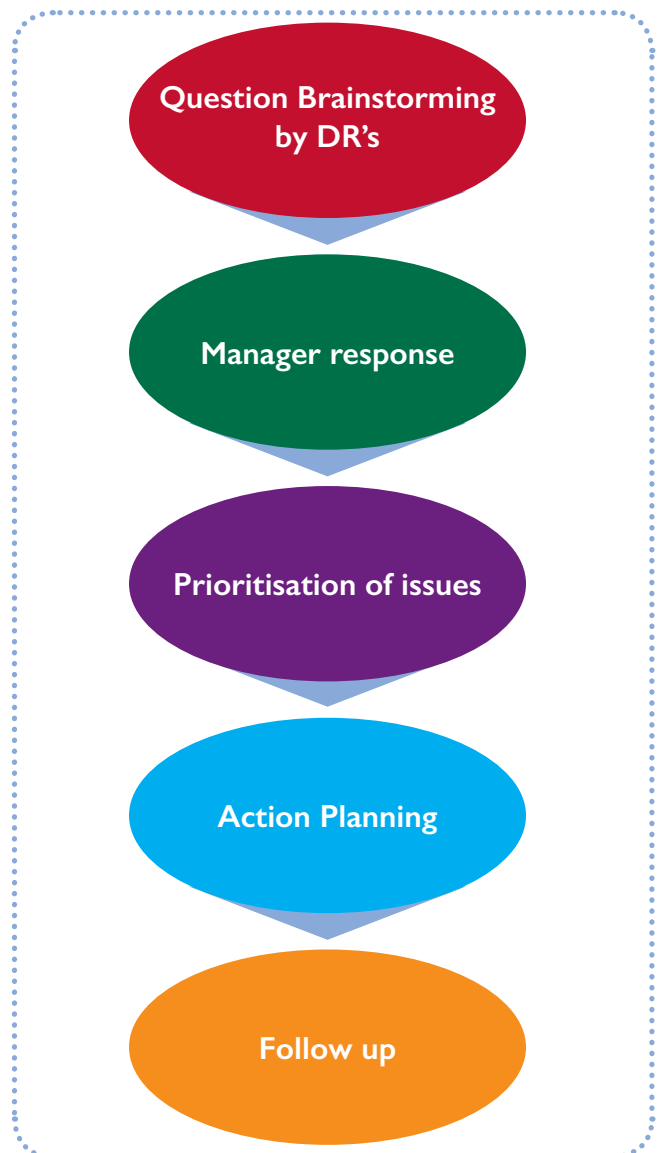

New Voice understands the importance of maximising employee performance whilst maintaining organisational productivity.

As new managers join an organisation, it is important that there is minimal disruption to the productivity of the group. The New Manager Assimilation process is threefold:

NewVoice would facilitate each of the 5 steps including the administrative support of the process for the Manager and participants. Following the workshop, the Manager will be presented with a report that captures the Action Planning.

The process itself consists of five sequential phases:

The follow-up one-on-one sessions are useful to maintain momentum for the manager and provide ongoing coaching. Managers benefit from the focus, tracking and feedback provided.
