

Sarah Schubert

Director

Sarah Schubert, Director of New Voice Communications, is a strong believer that success speaks for itself. She coaches and trains leaders and professionals to use their voice and communication skills to empower and excite people, and partners with businesses to implement transparent and successful people strategies to ensure everyone is aligned. Her experience and expertise are based on a foundation of over 25yrs experience in public speaking, coaching, training and international HR roles with large MNCs. Her career has spanned Europe, ANZ and Asia and has been based in Singapore since 2006.

New Voice was formed to develop and provide unique solutions to everyday issues: to promote different thinking, to encourage people to view things differently, to try new approaches and change the paradigm. Sarah is always exploring new ways to support and guide Leaders through challenge and recognises that as the world changes, so do we.

Sarah has Gold LAMDA (London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art) Award, a degree in Psychology, a postgraduate Diploma in Human Resource Management (CIPD), a Diploma in TESOL, is ExtendedDISC® certified, a certified practitioner of Points of You™ and has served on the Executive Committee of Asia Professional Speakers Singapore.
